

OUTBACK SALUTES LEWIS HAMILTON!

Outback Rigging have recently supplied and erected a huge 15m high outdoor self climbing structure near Tower Bridge in London to enable British artist Ian Cook to exhibit his giant painting of new Formula 1 World Champion and new Global ambassador for Reebok – Lewis Hamilton and all this with not one paintbrush in sight! Instead using his unique Autodrawing style which involves remote controlled cars covered in paint being driven across the canvas! This project was in conjunction with international advertising agency M&C Saatchi and we want to thank everyone involved in what was a hugely successful campaign.
